

David Nowicki

4013 24th Ave. SE, Apt. 10, Norman, OK 73071 • Home/Cell: 601-503-7080 • david.nowicki@ou.edu

University of Mississippi, College of Liberal Arts

B.A. Psychology, B.S. Mathematics (2019)

University of Oklahoma, School of Meteorology

Graduate Teaching Assistant (2019)

Honors

High school valedictorian

National Merit Finalist

Mississippi STAR Student

Taylor Medal recipient

National Weather Center Research

Experience for Undergraduates intern

Affiliations

Phi Kappa Phi

Phi Beta Kappa

Sally McDonnell Barksdale Honors College

Lafayette-Oxford-University Symphony

Orchestra, principal cellist

University of Mississippi Department of

Outreach Competition Corps

American Meteorological Society, student member

Skills

Proficient in Python

Proficient in MATLAB

Proficient in SPSS

Proficient in RStudio

Experience creating surveys (Qualtrics)

Experience performing manual content analyses

Research Experience

Completed research for the 2017 National Weather Center Research Experience for Undergraduates program

Presented at 2018 American Meteorological Society Student Conference

Preparing senior thesis regarding social media strategies used by the National Weather Service for severe weather events, as well as the efficacy of these strategies in communicating risk to the public

Publications in Preparation or Review

Nowicki, D. P., K. E. Klockow, A. E. Gerard, A. E. Cohen and J. A. Hart, 2018: How forecasters anticipate nocturnal, cool-season Southeastern tornado events. 17th AMS Student Conf., Austin, TX, Amer. Meteor. Soc., <http://www.caps.ou.edu/reu/reu17/finalpapers/Nowicki-Paper.pdf>.

Bunker, R. C., A. E. Cohen, J. A. Hart, A. E. Gerard, K. E. Klockow, and D. P. Nowicki, 2018: Examination of the predictability of nocturnal tornado events in the Southeastern United States. Conditionally accepted to Wea. Forecasting pending revisions.

Work History

As Employee:

Servers' assistant (seasonal), 2014 to 2017

Saltine — 622 Duling Ave, Jackson, MS 39216

La Finestra — 120 N Congress St. #3, Jackson, MS 39201

*Performed inventory, stocked workstations and the kitchen, cleaned, and carried out preparation and clean-up of the restaurant after every shift

*Regularly served food and bussed tables

*Occasionally served in expediter, bartender's assistant and host positions

Copy editor, 04/2017 to 04/2018

Copy chief, 04/2018 to 10/2018

The Daily Mississippian — 201 Bishop Hall, University, MS 38677

*Copy edited every article for both print and online publications

*Scheduled and supervised staff of seven copy editors

*Performed final edits of captions, headings, and formatting for print

As independent contractor:

Contract driver, 08/2018 to present

*Contract with Uber and Lyft ridesharing services